

National Weather Service

Storm Data and Unusual Weather Phenomena

December 2001

Location	Date	Time Local/ Standard	Path Length (Miles)	Path Width (Yards)	Number of Persons Killed	Number of Persons Injured	Estimated Damage Property	Estimated Damage Crops	Character of Storm
----------	------	----------------------------	---------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------------	---------------------------------	---------------------------------	------------------------------	--------------------

INDIANA, Southeast

INZ050-058-058>059-059-
066-066-066-073>075-080

17      0620EST      1      0      Flood
         2150EST

There were several reports of high water on roadways and creeks overflowing their banks throughout southeast Indiana and the Whitewater Valley. A woman attempted to cross a flooded slab bridge on Yellow Bank Creek. The automobile stalled and the woman was killed when she exited the vehicle and was swept downstream. Two children in the car were rescued by emergency personnel.

F33VE

OHIO, Southwest

OHZ046-055>056-065-073 Delaware - Franklin - Licking - Fairfield - Ross

14      1400EST      0      1      147K      High Wind (G57)
         1500EST

A center of low pressure over central Ohio created localized strong winds in excess of 50 knots for several areas. Scores of trees and power lines were down, causing numerous roads to be closed. At one point in time, 21,000 electric customers were without power. The hardest hit area was in Licking county between Granville and Newark where several large trees fell on houses and automobiles. One person was injured south of Newark when a tree fell on his pickup truck, fracturing his leg. In Franklin County, police responded to over 200 runs at one time.

OHZ042-051-060-062-
070>071

Darke - Miami - Preble - Greene - Butler - Warren

17      0910EST      0      0      Flood
         2145EST

High water forced road closures throughout southwest Ohio and the Miami Valley. Creeks were reported out of their banks in Butler and Preble Counties.